Modest Fashion • Faith • Elegance

Business Portfolio

Founder: Hadassah Tshaka

Industry: Fashion & Retail

Planned Brand Launch: March 2027

Location: South Africa

1. Business Overview

Hadara is an emerging modest fashion brand founded by Hadassah Tshaka, created with the purpose of providing beautiful, feminine and elegant clothing for Christian women who choose to dress modestly.

The brand was inspired by Hadassah's personal experience of growing up with limited access to fashionable clothing that aligned with her values of modesty. Rather than viewing this lack of options as a limitation, she identified an opportunity to create a fashion brand that allows Christian women to dress beautifully while remaining faithful to their personal beliefs and standards.

Hadara will specialise in modest casual wear, modest evening wear, and modest clothing for little girls, with the long-term vision of becoming a recognised modest fashion brand in South Africa and eventually serving customers internationally.

2. Brand Background

Hadara was created from a combination of personal experience, passion for fashion, education and practical industry exposure.

Growing up, Hadassah experienced difficulty finding clothing that was both fashionable and sufficiently modest. Much of the mainstream fashion market prioritises revealing silhouettes, trousers and trends that may not align with the preferences of Christian women who desire a more covered style of dress.

Hadara aims to respond to this gap by creating clothing that demonstrates that modesty does not have to mean sacrificing elegance, femininity or style.

The brand will encourage women to feel confident, beautiful and well-dressed while maintaining their preferred standards of modesty.

3. Founder Profile

Hadassah Tshaka — Founder & Designer

Hadassah Tshaka is an aspiring fashion entrepreneur and designer with a passion for creating elegant and modest clothing.

She is currently studying Retail Management at the University of Pretoria, giving her an academic foundation in areas such as retail, business and the commercial side of the fashion

Hadassah has also gained practical industry experience through working with Gerrit Pienaar, the owner of Claris, where she was able to gain exposure to the professional fashion environment and develop her understanding of garment production and the fashion business.

Her combination of fashion experience, retail studies and personal understanding of the modest-fashion market provides the foundation upon which Hadara is being built.

4. Industry

Fashion and Retail Industry

Hadara operates within the fashion and retail industry, specifically within the modest fashion market.

The brand intends to participate in several areas of the fashion market:

- Modest casual clothing
- Modest evening wear
- Modest dresses and skirts
- Little girls' modest wear
- Customised garments
- Future ready-to-wear collections

The initial focus will be on establishing a strong brand identity and developing products that appeal specifically to Christian women who value modest dressing.

5. Mission Statement

«To create accessible, beautiful and elegant modest clothing for Christian women in South Africa, with the hope of eventually making modest fashion available to women around the world.»

Hadara seeks to demonstrate that women should not have to choose between fashion, femininity and modesty.

6. Vision

Hadara's vision is to become a recognised modest fashion brand that provides Christian women and girls with stylish clothing that reflects their values.

In the long term, Hadara aims to expand beyond South Africa and become an internationally recognised brand within the modest fashion

The ultimate vision is for a Christian woman to be able to find a Hadara garment wherever she is in the world and know that she can dress with confidence, elegance and modesty.

7. Core Brand Values

Modesty

Hadara places modesty at the centre of its clothing philosophy and aims to create garments that provide appropriate coverage without compromising style.

Elegance

The brand seeks to create clothing that is feminine, polished and sophisticated.

Faith

Hadara is designed around the values and preferences of Christian women and seeks to create clothing that supports their desire to dress according to their beliefs.

Quality

The brand aims to produce garments that are carefully designed and constructed, with attention to detail and presentation.

Femininity

Hadara celebrates feminine fashion through graceful silhouettes, beautiful fabrics, thoughtful details and elegant designs.

8. Target Market

Primary Target Audience

Hadara's primary target market is:

Christian women who value modest dressing and prefer not to wear trousers.

The target customer is likely to value:

- Feminine clothing
- Dresses and skirts
- Modest necklines
- Appropriate garment lengths
- Elegant and sophisticated designs
- Faith-based values
- Quality clothing
- Fashion that allows her to remain modest while looking stylish

Secondary Target Market

Hadara will also target:

Christian mothers and families looking for modest clothing for little girls.

This provides an opportunity for Hadara to eventually create coordinated or complementary collections for mothers and daughters.

9. Product Offering

Hadara intends to develop three primary product categories.

A. Modest Casual Wear

Everyday clothing designed for women who want to dress comfortably while maintaining a modest and feminine appearance.

Examples may include:

- Casual dresses
- Maxi dresses
- Midi dresses
- Skirts
- Modest tops
- Everyday sets

B. Modest Evening Wear

Elegant clothing designed for special occasions.
Examples may include:

- Evening gowns
- Formal dresses
- Ball gowns
- Wedding and special-event dresses
- Elegant skirts and tops
- Customised occasion wear

C. Little Girls' Wear

Modest and feminine clothing designed for young Christian girls.

Examples may include:

- Dresses
 - Skirts
 - Church dresses
 - Special occasion dresses
 - Mother-and-daughter inspired designs

10. Current Business Position

Hadara is currently in its early development stage.

A small number of customised orders have already been received, completed and delivered. These orders have provided valuable practical requirements and producing clothing according to individual specifications.

However, Hadara is not yet widely recognised, and the brand currently does not have an established social media presence.

This provides an opportunity to build the brand deliberately from the beginning and establish a strong visual identity before the official launch.

11. Primary Business Goal

Official Brand Debut — March 2027

The primary short-term business goal is to officially launch Hadara in March 2027.

The launch will be introduced through a High Tea event, which will serve as the brand's introduction to its target market.

The event will provide an opportunity to:

- Introduce the Hadara brand
- Present the first collection
- Showcase the brand's modest-fashion philosophy
- Build relationships with potential customers
- Create awareness around the brand
- Generate social media content
- Network with potential partners and supporters
- Begin establishing Hadara's reputation within the market

The launch is intended to create a memorable first impression and position Hadara as an elegant and purpose-driven modest fashion brand.

12. Brand Positioning

Hadara will position itself as a feminine, elegant and faith-conscious modest fashion brand.

Rather than simply selling clothing, Hadara aims to offer women an alternative to mainstream fashion by creating garments that allow them to participate in fashion while remaining comfortable with their personal standards of modesty.

The brand's positioning can be summarised as:

"Modesty without compromising elegance."

13. Competitive Advantage

Hadara's potential competitive advantage comes from its specific focus on Christian women who

While modest fashion exists within the broader fashion industry, Hadara aims to create a brand identity specifically connected to the needs of Christian women.

The brand can differentiate itself through:

- A clear Christian target market
 - A strong modest-fashion identity
 - Feminine and elegant designs
 - Customised garments
 - Personal customer relationships
 - Little girls' modest wear
 - Special occasion clothing
 - A founder with both fashion and retail education
 - A brand story rooted in a genuine personal need

14. Current Weaknesses

Hadara recognises several challenges that may affect the business during its early stages.

1. Small Target Market

The brand currently focuses specifically on Christian women who prefer modest dressing and do not wear trousers. This creates a more specialised market than mainstream fashion. However, this can also become a strength because a clearly defined niche allows Hadara to build a strong and recognisable identity.

2. Limited Product Variety

As a developing brand, Hadara will initially have fewer designs and product options than established fashion retailers.

The brand will need to gradually expand its collections as resources, customer demand and production capacity increase.

3. Trend Challenges

Fashion trends change rapidly. Hadara will need to balance current fashion trends with its commitment to modesty.

Rather than following every trend, the brand will need to interpret relevant trends in a way that remains consistent with its modest and elegant identity.

4. Limited Brand Recognition

Hadara is currently a new and relatively unknown brand. Building awareness and customer trust will therefore be an important priority following the launch.

5. No Established Social Media Presence

The brand currently does not have an established social media presence. Building platforms such as Instagram, TikTok and Facebook will be important for reaching potential customers and showcasing the clothing.

15. Opportunities for Growth

Despite its current weaknesses, Hadara has significant opportunities for growth.

Potential opportunities include:

- Establishing a strong social media presence
- Building an online store
- Selling throughout South Africa
- Expanding into other African markets
- International shipping

Collaborations with Christian organisations and communities

- Fashion shows and modest-fashion events
- Mother-and-daughter collections
- Church and special-event clothing
- Custom-made garments
- Seasonal collections
- Limited-edition collections
- Collaborations with Christian influencers and content creators

The growing digital nature of fashion retail also provides Hadara with the opportunity to reach customers without relying entirely on a physical retail store.

16. Marketing Direction

ideas:

Faith

The brand is created for women who want their clothing to align with their Christian values.

Femininity

Hadara celebrates graceful, beautiful and feminine clothing.

Elegance

The brand demonstrates that modest clothing can be sophisticated, fashionable and suitable for special occasions.

The brand should maintain a consistent visual identity across all marketing channels, including its logo, photography, packaging, social media and events.

17. Future Social Media Strategy

As Hadara develops, social media will become an important tool for creating brand awareness. Potential platforms include:

- Instagram
- TikTok
- Facebook
- Pinterest

Content could include:

- Behind-the-scenes sewing
- Garment design processes
- Before-and-after transformations
- Collection reveals
- Modest styling ideas
- Founder stories

- Customer testimonials
- High Tea launch preparations
- Fashion photography
- Christian encouragement
- "How to style" videos
- New collection announcements

The objective will not simply be to sell clothing, but to build a community around modest fashion, femininity and faith.

10. Creating a sustainable fashion business that can continue growing for generations.

20. Brand Statement

Hadara exists to remind Christian women that they do not have to compromise their values to enjoy fashion. Through modest, feminine and elegant clothing, the brand seeks to create a space where women can dress beautifully, confidently and intentionally.

CONCLUSION

Hadara is more than a clothing brand. It is a response to a genuine gap experienced by its founder and an attempt to provide Christian women with more choices within the fashion industry.

Founded by Hadassah Tshaka, a fashion entrepreneur studying Retail Management at the University of Pretoria and gaining practical industry experience, Hadara combines personal experience, fashion knowledge and retail education.

Although the business is currently in its early stages, its planned March 2027 High Tea launch provides an important first step towards introducing the brand to its target market.
